Welcome to Ano's Art, An Academy for Creative Minds!

For more than a decade, students have been hurrying to Ano's studio, a special place where they can turn their ideas into unique works of art. Here at Ano's Art children find the best way to express their own individuality, and we celebrate the process together.

We live in a fast paced world, but it is important for kids to know that not everything happens at the push of a button. The many facets of art teach patience, perseverance, confidence, and ingenuity. Students learn to take the time to think creatively, to solve problems, and to contribute to the community- in short, how to integrate art into everyday life. Best of all, at Ano's Art everyone is part of the family. Everyone is an artist, come and join us!

"Taking the time to savor the wonders of life, both big and small, is the greatest lesson I have learned, and the greatest gift I can give."

-Ano Youssefian

Inviting, fun, and full of purpose...

The way in which the classroom is designed offers students a new way of perceiving the world. Ano's Art is a safe haven filled with all the materials students need to explore their dreams and express themselves through art, all in an atmosphere of trust and support.

Students gain confidence for their artistic ability in an atmosphere that is non-judgemental, supportive and trusting. Students arrive to diverse and upbeat music from all over the world. Often the smell baked treats fills the halls, along with warm greetings from friends, and exciting new ideas from Ano. Only the best tools and materials are available here- no compromises. The equation works because when art class ends, nobody wants to go home!

About Ano

Ano Youssefian taught at the Catlin Gabel School in Portland for over fifteen years, where she developed the much acclaimed (and waiting list only) "Afternoons with Ano" art program. Ano has also been on the faculty of the Oregon College of Art and Crafts for the past six years, receiving numerous awards for her students' art as well as her own. She has taught at the University of Portland, Art and Communications Magnet Academy, Riverdale Elementary School, and the Police Activity League in Beaverton, among others.

"Every child possesses artistic vision. In our studio, each child captures their hopes and dreams with their art."

-Ano Youssefian

At Ano's Art Academy our mission is to positively impact the lives of youth in our community by providing them with opportunities to learn through artistic exploration in a professionally run, safe, encouraging and nurturing environment utilizing trade-quality tools and materials. We strive to develop life-long learners and prepare students to view the challenges of the world as opportunities to be solved through creativity and hard work.

"With each child that I teach, I pass along the same love, hope, and care that my mother so tenderly gave to me. Ano's Art is dedicated to my Mother's cherished memory."

-Ano Youssefian

Students age 3 to 103 experience the joy of learning to paint, draw, sculpt, carve and create.
